Italian families

HAVE BEEN SHARING
AND ENJOYING
OUR CONFECTIONERY SINCE 1836.

THE HISTORY OF TORRONE

We at Sperlari are proud to have Torrone as our flagship product, which we have been making for over 180 years with masterful skill and undisputed, acknowledged quality. Torrone is the pearl of the immense Italian gastronomic heritage and found across the globe as a Christmas treat.

Its origins can be traced back to ancient Arab traditions, from which it gradually spread to the whole of the Mediterranean basin, especially in Italy, where the history and fortunes of this nougat are inextricably linked to the city of Cremona.

It all began for the wedding between Bianca Maria Visconti, daughter of the Duke of Milan, and the Condottiero Francesco Sforza. The ceremony took place on 25th October 1441 and was the occasion for great celebrations: the confectioners of Cremona decided to join in by creating a new nougat in honor of the betrothed with a shape that recalled the bell tower of the city, known as the Torrazzo or Torrione. Hence the name torrone, by which the recipe is still called today.

Time went by and torrone continued to be a welcome gift. However, production methods were changing since they had to evolve in order to cope with the increase in consumption. From the apothecaries' workshops, torrone production moved to the first factories specialized in confectionery.

By the eighteenth century there were already twenty such factories in the Cremona area.

THE HISTORY OF SPERLARI

From celebrations to moments of everyday life, our biggest ambition is to give people little sweet and unique moments of happiness.

It all began in 1836, in a little shop in Via Solferino - in the centre of Cremona - a short walk from Piazza del Duomo.

Here Enea Sperlari combined a personal passion with a business idea: he started selling the two traditional Cremonese craft specialties: torrone and mostarda (a pickle made of candied fruit and mustard-flavored syrup). The artisan quality of his creations won over the entire city, and not only: it is said that composer Giuseppe Verdi used to visit Cremona to stock up on his specialties.

The Sperlari brand quickly became famous worldwide. But the historic little shop in Via Solferino, which has become part of Italian folklore, is still open today, selling its sweets to many Italian families just as it did 180 years ago.

Our history has been focused on continuing our growth with other great brands that have been founders of their category.

Saila, the original refreshing bean, master of licorice, was founded in 1937. Galatine, the unique and original milk tablet dates back to 1956. Dietorelle, the sugar-free candy was created in 1977 and still a leader with its 100% vegan and sugar free wide range.

Sperlari is synonymous with emotions, sharing and of course sweetness. A brand with a rich and varied product range and an unshrinking focus on innovation.

Besides our Christmas specialties, our sweets and chocolates are also year-round treats for those with a sweet tooth.
